TEST

1 Peter 1:15, 17b-18b <sup>NIV</sup>

But just as he who called you is holy, so be holy in all you do...

<sup>17</sup> live out your time as foreigners here in reverent fear...

<sup>18</sup> you were redeemed from the empty way of life handed down to you from your ancestors...

“To be human is to love, and it is what we love that defines who we are. Our (ultimate) love is constitutive of our identity.”

- James K.A. Smith, Desiring the Kingdom

So we're not talking about trivial loves, like when we say we "love" pizza or the Boston Red Sox; we're not even quite talking about significant loves, like when we say we "love" our parents or we "love" a spouse.

- James K.A. Smith, Desiring the Kingdom

Rather, we are talking about ultimate loves – that to which we are fundamentally oriented, what ultimately governs our vision of the good life, what shapes and molds our being-in-the-world – in other words, what we desire above all else, the ultimate desire that shapes and positions and makes sense of all our penultimate desires and actions.

- James K.A. Smith, Desiring the Kingdom
